Government Warehouses on Iona Island, Opposite Peekskill, Are Shaken By Explosion of Terrific Force, Causing Nearly a Score of Deaths and Injuring Many Persons.

DANGER WAS SO GREAT THAT RESCUERS FEARED TO GO THERE.

One Explosion Followed Another for More than an Hour—All the Buildings Were Probably Destroyed—Sixty Men Were Employed When the Accident Took Place.

Sixteen men were killed and many were injured by a series of explosions on Iona Island, in the Hudson River, opposite Peekskill, to-day. The explosions occurred in sheds used by the Government for the storage 3) 1, Dimple (11 to 5) 2. Only two of dynamite and powder.

The danger was so great that persons were for a time afraid to go from Peekskill to rescue the injured.

The first explosion occurred shortly after 1 o'clock. It was heard in Peekskill, and the flame and smoke could be seen from the water-front. Then followed explosion after explosion for an hour until the whole ex- 1) 1, Elsie L (6 to 1) 2, Mabel Richpanse of buildings had been blown up.

Iona Island is close to the west shore of the Hudson, and the explosions wrecked houses along the bank. There were sixty men employed on the island. Many lost their lives while engaged in fighting the fire that followed the first explosion.

A telephone message from the commandant of the island to Peekskiil neking for physicians stated that sixteen were already dead, and that others were so seriously wounded that they could not survive. All of the phyeicians of the city who could leave went to Iona Island on a special boat. Calls were sent for doctors to other near-by Hudson River towns.

Margaret Bohan, the year-old baby and only child of Mr. and Mrs. James Bohan, of No. 204 West End avenue, was instantly killed in an ex traordinary manner this afternoon by a huge automobile truck at Sixty ninth street and West End avenue.

Mrs. Charles Faulkner, of No. 212 West End avenue, the aunt of the child, whom she was wheeling in a perambulator, and her two-year-old little lie is of course disappointed at the outgirl Helen were both hurled senseless to the pavement by the same vehicle, escaping its great wheels by a hair's breadth.

A crowd of nearly two thousand, persons witnessed the accident and made frantic attempts to get at George, F. Meagher, the chauffeur of the vehicle. Had it not been for the prompt interference of Lieutenant of Police Charles Townsend, who dragged the man from the hands of the moh to the police patrol stables hard by, he would have suffered severe injury at the hands of the crowd. As it was, Lieut. Townsand had to barricade the doors of the stable and send for the reserves in order to protect his prisoner
